Samsung Galaxy Note 4 and Alpha may save Korean tech giant's falling sales

In the wake of a disappointing earnings report, Samsung tried to reassure investors by revealing its comeback strategy for the next few months. According to The Wall Street Journal, Kim Hyun-joon, senior vice president at Samsung Mobile told investors during the earnings call that the company is launching two high-end smartphones in the next six months. One model is reportedly coming with "a large screen" while the company will use "new materials" to make the other model. The model with "a large screen" is likely to be the Galaxy Note 4, which is expected to be powered by the latest Exynos ModAP quad-core processor. The other model should be the fabled Galaxy Alpha with a metallic frame. Samsung should be unveiling the Galaxy Note 4 on September 3 before IFA 2014 while the Galaxy Alpha is rumored to be launched earlier on August 13. Based on its latest earnings report, Samsung experienced its first year-over-year drop in net profit in almost three years for the second quarter of 2014. Apparently, stiff competition from Chinese phone makers and a recent hike in the local currency made its products less competitive in overseas markets. Its flagship smartphone, the Galaxy S5 reportedly did not sell as well as expected, which might have contributed to the loss in profits. Samsung also will be introducing new low-end and midrange models with enhanced features to compete with the low-cost offerings from Chinese phone makers. With Apple likely to release bigger iPhones later this year, Samsung finds itself in a very difficult situation where it needs to act swiftly to defend its position across the various market segments. TAGLISH Version

This is the official website of the Sangguniang Panglungsod of the City of Bacoor, Cavite.

The historic town of Bacoor, was founded in 1671. Its former name "Bakood" (meaning "fence" in Tagalog) was suggestive of its role as the boundary between the towns of Paranaque and Kawit. Bacoor was also the site of the Battle of Zapote Bridge in 1897 between the Filipinos and Americans. Upon the declaration of Philippine Independence on 12 June 1898, the town was then designated as the first capital of Philippine Revolutionary Government by Emilio Aguinaldo.

On June 23, 2012, under the administration of its 18th Municipal Mayor, Hon. Strike B. Revilla, Bacoor was converted into the City of Bacoor by virtue of Republic Act No. 10160 known as the "Charter of the City of Bacoor". The city is composed of seventy-three (73) barangays under two (2) legislative districts namely Bacoor East and Bacoor West and has a population of around 650,000.

Under the Article IV, Section 11 of RA 10160, the Sangguniang Panglungsod is the legislative body of the City which has the power to enact ordinances, approve resolutions, and appropriate funds for the general welfare of the City and its inhabitants. The sanggunian is headed by the City Vice Mayor, Hon. Catherine Sarino - Evaristo, and comprised of twelve (12) city councilors as regular sanggunian members, the president of the city chapter of the Liga ng mga Barangay, and the president of the Panglungsod na Pederasyon ng mga Sangguniang Kabataan.

This website is the product of the Sangguniang Panglungsod's determination to be more transparent and to directly involve the people of the City of Bacoor not only in the crafting of vital legislative measures but also to have active role in shaping the future of their beloved city. Welcom to the historic City of Bacoor!
